Nominate someone who makes Canada proud!

Do you know someone who

#MakesCanadaProud?

It could be a friend, coworker, family member or team of people whose actions are inspiring because they are making a positive difference. We all know someone who is passionate about fostering change. The Governor General of Canada would like to help you celebrate this outstanding person.

The Meritorious Service Decorations were established to recognize the extraordinary people who make Canada proud. Their acts are often innovative, set an example or model for others to follow, or respond to a particular challenge faced by a community. The best candidates are those who inspire others through their motivation to find solutions to specific and pressing needs or provide an important service to their community or country.

Who is eligible

Meritorious Service Decorations are given to recognize contributions in any field, from advocacy and health care services to research and humanitarian efforts. Recipients have tackled poverty in their community, improved education opportunities for children in Canada and abroad, or raised awareness of important causes and issues.

Both Canadians and non-Canadians who have made a significant contribution to Canada are eligible. The decorations can also be awarded posthumously, as long as the initiative was undertaken after 1984.

“My guests learn a lot from my cooking show. I’m so happy to help them cook good food. This is my dream. Dreams can come true!”

– Rebecca Veevee, Iqaluit, Nunavut, MSD (Civil) recipient

How recipients are selected

Each nomination is carefully researched and then reviewed by an independent advisory committee, which makes recommendations to the Governor General.

There are two levels of recognition: a cross and a medal. The different levels reflect the scope and impact of the contribution.

The Chancellery of Honours, which manages the program, will contact each successful candidate. Nominators are also informed of the results of their nomination.

Presentation ceremonies are held throughout the year, in communities across Canada.

“My motto is ‘no excuses, no limits’. Our limitations must not be a burden. We have to turn them into our strengths.”

– Luca “LazyLegz” Patuelli, Montreal, Quebec, MSD (Civil) recipient

How to submit a nomination
